Conversations with My Molester: A Journey of Faith

As a boy, Michael Mack dreamed of becoming a Roman Catholic priest but that changed when his pastor first invited him to the rectory. Mack soon left the Church, but forty years later he landed on his former pastor’s doorstep for the conversations of a lifetime.

What is the cost of forgiveness?

“Well-written, witty, insightful, engaging, and true. A powerful experience not to be missed.”

Fr. Michael McGarry, CSP
President, Paulist Fathers (2013)
Paulist Center of Boston

Spellbinding... An amazing journey of forgiveness.

Richard Griffin
Cambridge Chronicle

Mack’s presence is immediately captivating, as he inhabits “God’s proscenium stage” with wit, honesty and ease. The text is magnificent.

Jacquelyn Claire
New York Theatre Guide

Powerful... We all should have the courage of a Michael Mack to delve into our life story seeking the face of mercy and hope.

Barbara Thorpe
Director of the Office of Pastoral Support &
Child Protection (ret.),
Archdiocese of Boston

Beautifully executed. Mack is a true poet, creating soaring and stunning imagery. His brilliant use of words transforms trauma into opera.

Amy Frateo
Outer Stage Journal

Mack’s prize-winning solo play is his spiritual autobiography, a true story of the trespass and grace that led him away from – and back to – the Catholic Church.

Conversations with My Molester: A Journey of Faith

A Lenten Offering

Lent is a time of profound reflection – both for individuals and the wider church – in advance of Easter's renewal. In the Lenten spirit of reflection, St. Anthony Shrine of downtown Boston is sponsoring Michael Mack's remarkable one-man play Conversations with My Molester: A Journey of Faith as his testament to reconciliation.

About the Play

Conversations with My Molester: A Journey of Faith premiered at the Boston Playwright's Theatre in January 2012 on the 10-year anniversary of the clergy abuse crisis. With veteran Boston director Daniel Gidron at the helm, Michael Mack's 90-minute solo show netted rave reviews from clergy, parishioners, and even the Boston Archdiocese for its nuanced portrayal of a complex topic.

"I attended Conversations with My Molester and am very glad I did – it is well-written, witty, insightful, engaging, and true. The author does not stir the pot of his own victimhood and demonize his perpetrator. Rather, he admits the texture of their shared humanity while never compromising on the fundamental evil of the abuse. Without over-simplicity, he paints a canvas of his own healing, still in process.

There is hope, there is an understanding of "the other," and there is some reconciliation. Not in neat little knots, but in the complexity of growing more and more into a healed self. Finally, his generous availability for questions after the production (complemented by a priest's presence) allowed for a conversation that few such plays afford. This is a powerful experience not to be missed."

– Father Michael McGarry, CSP (President of the Paulist Fathers 2010-2014)
